

My Dream Garden

By Jacqueline Wang

If I have my own garden that I could put anything I want in, I would put these things in it.

To begin, I would have a pond. The pond would be big enough to ride a floaty as if the pond was a pool. There would also be different types of fish living in the pond such as, catfish, goldfish, channel fish, koi, and bluegills. I would separate the pond into sections for each fish' habitat, so that some fish will not die because the habitat is not theirs.

Furthermore, animals should be welcomed in my garden too! Animals such as ducks and frogs can live in the pond, and the other animals such as squirrels and birds can live in the trees. I will welcome any animals that want to come and stay.

Moreover, I would also have plants in my garden so that it will look even more beautiful. The plants I'm going to put in my garden are tulips, calla lilies, daisies, roses, ferns, and of course, trees. I would also put some plants that live in the water such as water lilies and lily pads.

Then, I will talk about my beautiful house. My house would be yellow with a yellow-orange colored roof, and it will also have a yellow-orange chimney. The windows will have an orange outlines and a blue tint to the glass. One window will be a rectangle, while the other window a circle. My house will be next to the garden.

To conclude, with such a gorgeous garden, living in this house would be exciting and fun.
