

What Would You Do if You Were Mayor for a Week?

by Sanya Joshi

If I was mayor for a week, I would make a group chat with everyone in Floralia, so I know what they want me to do.

I would also save money to do a cleanup every month if the city got dirty. When I get home I'll start printing posters for a drawing contest. I'll leave 2 or 3 in everyone's mailbox.

Every once in a while, I'll come by to replace old and worn-out things in the city. Everyday, I'd water the plants growing in the city and take in stray pets so they can find a nice home.

I could help the mechanics to design a car that moves upside down. The neighborhoods will be close together so that everyone can be friends with new people.

If you start living in Floralia, you will instantly become confident, optimistic, kind, honest, and independent.

There's pure, fresh air too because Floralia will be in the clouds. Where the rainbows arrive everybody will know cause we're at the perfect distance in the sky.

Everybody would love my beautiful and unique city.
