

Heart Of Cerritos by Jiya Shah

I sit down on a bench of Heritage Park, watching little children play around me
Somehow that makes me smile and makes my heart feel free As I sit down and look around many memories come in flooding in my mind like free bees

I look towards the grassy area and I remember how I used to come here to this very specific park and hang on the trees And I would run around playing tag with my friends and feel free

I've spent my whole childhood in this park, in the City of Cerritos A smile comes across my face, as I remember these small things that make me feel happy and delighted

Then, I decide to take a visit to Cerritos Library where I have grew up and spent my growing years

I have learned to read and I have made my first couple of friends in the library that made my fears go away

Basically, Cerritos Library is a part of my soul and I still visit this library every other week

I have so much colorful and joyful memories here and I still seek for more

The City of Cerritos has always made me feel complete

This city is really sweet

Now this city has become a part of my heart

And that's why we all call it "Heart of Cerritos" which turns our lives into a cart of amazing art!
